Virgin Mary Pistol Grip Releases New Single "Dragonfly" Featuring Ryan Delahoussaye of Blue October

Omaha-based alternative rock band Virgin Mary Pistol Grip (VMPG) announces the release of their new single "Dragonfly," featuring Ryan Delahoussaye of Blue October on strings. Produced, engineered, and mixed by L.A. producer (and Nebraska native) Bob Marlette, and mastered by Paul Logus (PLX Mastering), the song pairs cinematic texture with driving alt-rock energy. "Dragonfly" reflects VMPG's signature blend of vulnerability and strength. With shades of Death Cab for Cutie, Cage the Elephant, and The Strokes, "Dragonfly" cements VMPG's place among the Midwest's rising indie-rock voices. Available everywhere November 7, 2025.

Their new single "Dragonfly," follows their acclaimed full-length album 'Where Time Went' (2024) — also produced by Marlette and mastered by Logus — which earned an 'Album of the Year' nomination from the Omaha Entertainment and Arts Awards (OEAA).

Virgin Mary Pistol Grip is an Omaha-based alt-rock band that blends raw indie energy with heartfelt melodies. Their sound channels the spirit of 90s rock while embracing modern pop sensibilities. VMPG's live shows carry an electric sense of honesty and connection, turning performances into a shared emotional experience between the band and the audience.

They've performed alongside The Wallflowers, Black Pistol Fire, and Shooter Jennings, and appeared at regional festivals including Junkstock and Omaha Summer Arts Festival, as well as Baffin Records Showcase in Washington, D.C. In 2024, the band joined Good Life Records, a local independent label uniting artists through creativity, community, and collaboration.
