Happy New Year everyone! With a new year comes new music, and here at Scenester - we're all about it. Our New Year's resolution is simple really - to grow our reader/app user base, as our success can only help Omaha's music scene succeed even more. You can help by sending your like-minded friends our way!

We're just one month out from this year's Omaha Entertainment & Arts Awards ceremony! The event will be held February 15th, 2026 at The Admiral in the Downtown/South Omaha area. View the nominees to see which local artists are being considered at this year's ceremony. We'll be there in person to attend, and cover which music artists receive awards on the night. Be sure to get your tickets to attend the special evening in person!

Before we dive into things further, be sure to check out our Omaha playlists on Spotify. We have seven playlists (each grouping similar sub-genres together) comprised only of original Omaha bands and artists. We also have the Editor's Choice Playlist (below) that serves as a smooth, easy listen - and as a snapshot of the music scene as a whole. We're considering running ads for this playlist in the near future, which could really help boost Omaha's music scene's profile both here at home AND throughout the region! Stay tuned, and enjoy the playlist.

OMAHA'S "HOTTEST LOCAL OF THE MONTH" FROM THE MONTH OF DECEMBER IS:

VIRGIN MARY PISTOL GRIP

SCENESTERMUSIC.COM

Scenester: You guys recently re-released your single 'Dragonfly' featuring a rather special guest musician...could you tell us some insights as to how it came about to work with Ryan Delahoussaye (violinist from Blue October)?

VMPG: Our producer (Bob Marlette) really likes Dragonfly and we discussed adding a special guest to that track. We thought adding strings to this song could elevate it. Bob asked if we knew anyone that could add those parts, and we immediately had Ryan in mind (Jales has known Ryan and the guys in Blue October for 15+ years.) So, when Blue October was stopping through Omaha on one of their tours, we met up, chatted about what we were looking for and he agreed.

Scenester: That's so awesome that it worked out! It's wild that Jales has known the Blue October guys for so long now. Could you explain to us what ideas or themes are central to VMPG, and how they might've evolved for you guys over the years?

VMPG: 'Love Always Wins' is a motto for our band. We also have a mental health campaign called Blue Fingernails. Our fans have helped evolve that into what it is! They show up with their nails painted blue, custom blue heart shirts, and even getting the VMPG blue heart tattoo. We usually try to have our merch flow with the feel of our current album (Where Time Went).

Scenester: That's so beautiful. Recently we saw some pics of fans' blue heart tattoos...it really is such a special thing you guys have established.

Speaking of the fans, the 20th Omaha Entertainment Awards ceremony is coming up next month, and VMPG was nominated for Outstanding Rock - amongst eight other tremendous local rock acts. Could you guys tell us a little bit about what these nominations mean to you?

VMPG: Getting recognized for your art is an amazing thing. With the OEAA's, it's even more amazing, because it's the fans who vote for nominations. We love that Omaha has such a vibrant scene.

Scenester: Exactly - it's the fans! Love it. Well good luck you guys, we'll see you at the ceremony. If you could open up for any big time band, is there a band or two that you guys would all agree on being a dream come true?

VMPG: Pearl Jam!

Scenester: Boom, enough said! We'd pay to see that for sure. As for show days, which local restaurant is VMPG eating at before performing a show here in Omaha?

VMPG: You can find us at Star Deli in Benson!!

Scenester: Wonderful place. If any of our readers haven't eaten there yet - you really need to! Fun loaded question: In your guys' opinion, what is the role of music in society?

VMPG: To make people feel something!

Scenester: Of course! Piggy-backing off of that with another deep question...with so much AI generated music flooding the zone now at this point in time, where do you guys think human made music goes from here?

VMPG: We think people will continue to go to live shows, buy music (vinyl), and listen to human made music. There's something about being in a space together, the connection that is made between the band and fans/audiences and the community it creates that AI cannot replicate.

Scenester: Amen to that! That's exactly why we do what we do here at Scenester . Speaking of time, it's wild that 2026 is here already. Does the band have any fun New Year's Resolutions? Or perhaps the members, individually?

VMPG: 2026 already! Crazy!! We don't necessarily make resolutions, we strive to continually get better every day!

Scenester: Nice and simple, like a sports team. Do you guys have any projects in the works, like any more upcoming singles, collabs - or perhaps even an album?

VMPG: We are heading to the studio this year to record a new album!

Scenester: Alright! That's what we like to hear. You guys have a big show coming up with Good Life Records Winterfest at both The Waiting Room AND Reverb Lounge. What are you all looking forward to the most with this concert?

VMPG: Our favorite thing to do is play live shows! Especially when it's with our fellow GLR mates at two great venues!!!! It's a great way to see so many bands (& friends) in one night. 12 bands for $12 - that's a steal!

Scenester: That's such a great deal! Hard to beat for such excellent quality. Well we'll be there, and we look forward to seeing you guys perform - as well as all the other amazing bands.

Thanks for taking the time with us guys! Great work on 'Dragonfly', and we look forward to the concert the 30th - and we'll keep our eyes open for the new album once it's coming out. Rock on guys!

VMPG: Thank you!
